

FIRE DRILL IN CAMP Y. M. C. A. STARTS IS VERY THRILLING TO RAISE WAR FUND

A Nationwide Campaign to be Inaugurated by the National Y. M. C. A. War Council—Ulster County to be Organized.

Millions of soldiers each month thank God for the friendly Y. M. C. A. centers as a relief from the hard, cold life of the camps and trenches. But it takes millions of dollars to continue and to extend this vital home touch—to keep these home ties from breaking.

At the meeting of the National War Work Council of the Young Men's Christian Association of the United States, held at the Bankers' Club in New York city, September 21, 1917, and largely attended by members from every section of the country, the program for this war work to July 1, 1918, was faced with solemn earnestness.

Reports based on accurate and painstaking investigations indicated that at least $35,000,000 would be required to meet the needs with any adequateness. It was with the sense of deep conviction and obligation as well as confidence that the National War Work Council voted unanimously to set aside the period of November 11 to 18 inclusive as $35,000.

The estimated cost of the U.S. portion of the war to the United States is $35,000,000 a year. The American people will certainly contribute at least $5,000,000 for nine months for "constructive" work such as the Y. M. C. A. is doing among the American troops, among the 14,000,000 and more troops of our Allies, for the 5,000,000 prisoners of war, for millions for defense through out the world. Millions also for the defense of our warriors!

the National Campaign Committee composed of William Sloane, chairman; Cleveland Dodge, treasurer; John R. Mott, secretary; Charles H. McCormick, George W. Williams, William Fellowes Morgan, Charles A. Crossett, F. W. Ayer, E. J. Dwyer, John J. Eagan. Citizens' committees in every county in the United States are now being appointed and The Freeman in each county or two will announce the Ulster county committee.

KOLTS CHOICE OF THIRD WARD

Supervisor of Third Ward Re-nominated By Republicans Because of His Record Which Shows He is the Man for the Place.

William H. Kolts, the Republican nominee for supervisor of the Third ward, enjoys the full confidence not only of the people of his ward but of the city at large and wherever he is known throughout the county.

WILLIAM H. KOLTS.

For more than thirty years Mr. Kolts has been engaged in the wagon making business in Kingston. The business was founded by his father, the late Henry Kolts, who was one of the pioneer wagon manufacturers of the county. Upon leaving school Mr. Kolts was apprenticed to the trade of his father, to whom he succeeded in business more than fifteen years ago.

Mr. Kolts has served several terms as supervisor, and always has given entire satisfaction to his constituents. He has paid strict attention to the county's business to which he has applied the same foresight and skill which he has exhibited in conducting his personal business affairs.

In the city government he has held various important positions and the way in which the business of the city is conducted is thoroughly familiar to him. For many years he has been an active member of Weiner House Company, of which he has served as president and treasurer, and his deep interest in fraternal matters has been noteworthy. For one year he served as assistant chief of the fire department and for three years he was its chief.

Socially, Mr. Kolts is a member of Kingston Lodge, No. 550, B. P. O. Elks, and German Lodge, No. 303, I. O. O. F., Exempt Firemen's Association and the Hudson Valley Firemen's Association, of which he has served as treasurer.

By temperament and training, Mr. Kolts is well adapted for the office in which already he has achieved such an enviable record.

LLOYD'S NOMINEE HAS MANY FRIENDS

Able Citizen Named By Republicans for Supervisor Who Has Proved Himself By Work He Has Accomplished.

Few men are better known throughout the town of Lloyd than the Republican nominee for supervisor, Luther D. Wilklow.

Mr. Wilklow was born at Lloyd, where for several years he conducted a large fruit farm. After selling the farm he removed to Highland and conducted a grocery store.

Mr. Wilklow always has been interested in town politics. For eleven years he served as justice of the peace and gave entire satisfaction. Following that, he was elected town superintendent of highways for three successive terms, and while filling that position he had an opportunity of becoming thoroughly acquainted with all sections of the town.

In 1916 Mr. Wilklow resigned as town superintendent and was appointed supervisor by the town board to fill the vacancy caused in that office when Supervisor Philip Schantz resigned in order to become county treasurer.

Mr. Wilklow is a man with many friends and many interests. For many years he served as a member of the Highland board of education; he always has been solicitous of the town's best welfare and improvement and is in every way fitted to serve the taxpayers as supervisor.

MORE GOOD THINGS FOR WINTER.

With plenty of cucumbers still growing, we may enjoy the following for the winter's store:

Pickles—Slice one hundred tender cucumbers; cover with one and one-thirds cupsful of salt and let them stand three hours. Slice three pints of small onions and cover them with cold water; let them stand three hours, then drain the cucumbers and onions and mix well with three ounces of white mustard seed, one ounce of celery seed, one ounce of white pepper and two cupsful of olive oil. When well blended, can and fill jars with good vinegar, seal and keep in a cool place. Good to eat in ten days.

Cucumbers—Take green cucumbers too old to eat sliced, peel and cut into quarters lengthwise, then each piece into quarters. Let stand in a weak brine over night. In the morning cook in a mixture of two and one-half cupsful of vinegar to the same amount of sugar until clear, then skin out the pickles, place in a two-quart jar and cook the sirup with a few cloves, a piece of stick cinnamon and a tablespoonful each of celery seed and mustard seed; pour over the pickles and put away for winter use.

Mustard Pickles—Mix a quarter of a cupful of mustard with the same amount of salt and a tablespoonful of sugar, add a quart of vinegar and drop in the fresh cucumbers as they are picked each day. A few peppercorns or mixed spices may be added if liked, varying the flavor with mace, bayleaf, cloves or any spice desired.

Young carrots make a very nice pickle for a variety. Cook the carrots until tender, then put them in a jar and pour over vinegar, using sugar and spices to taste. Young beets are also most appetizing canned this way.

Peach Chips—Slice firm, ripe peaches quite thin, boil in a clear sirup made of half their weight of sugar, remove from the sirup with a skimmer, lay on a platter and set in the sun until perfectly dry. Sprinkle with granulated sugar and pack in jars. This makes a dainty confection to serve as a garnish for ices or molded desserts.

STEINWAY REPRESENTATIVE FOR KINGSTON AND ULSTER COUNTY

ORGANIZING TO SAVE FOOD

Hoover Plan Being Followed in Ulster County—Committees Appointed for Every Township.

The editors of the Kingston Daily Freeman, Kingston Daily Leader and Kingston Daily Express, having assured me of their co-operation in the matter of the Hoover Food Administration Plan, I take this opportunity, through the columns of their papers, to reach every housewife in the county of Ulster.

We have not yet felt the beginnings of the burdens we must bear in the prosecution of the war. Our army abroad must be maintained by supplies shipped from this country. Our allies have insufficient food for their own maintenance. They will need between now and the next harvest at least 500,000,000 bushels of wheat or its equivalent. Statistics show that the consumption of wheat in this country averages about five pounds per person per week. If the consumption of wheat during the next twelve months is reduced to an average of four pounds per person per week, that saving, together with the amount we have on hand for exportation, will permit us to send to our allies more than 200,000,000 bushels of wheat. In order to effect this saving, it is absolutely essential that every person realize the importance of the objects to be attained by this movement of the food administration. No person must think that the amount of food used by him or her is so insignificant that it will have no effect in helping our allies, but on the contrary, must feel that he or she is one of this great army of volunteers whose little saving of food in the aggregate will be sufficient to maintain our allies until the next harvest is garnered.

The Food Administration is organizing the housewives of every state in the union. New York state has organized every county. Ulster county has organized every township, and the plan of organization of Ulster county is to have a card presented to every housewife in the county for her signature on which she may express her willingness to volunteer in this movement of the food administration. These cards are to be signed and returned to one of the committees in each town and by them to the committee for Ulster county, not later than November 2nd. The returns from this county are to be forwarded to Albany by the 3rd of November. If any housewife has been omitted in having a card presented to her for signature, such card may be obtained from one of the local committees of the town in which she resides.

The committees of every town are urged to make a complete canvass and to have all the returns sent to me not later than November 2nd.

Uses of the Howitzer.
Howitzer is the name given to a particular piece of ordnance which is of great value to sieges. It is a small, light gun, which fires a shell at a small velocity but at a steep angle of descent. This makes it valuable as a means of bombarding trenches and in attacking low-lying defenses.

WORK ALWAYS IS A BLESSING

To Do Something Useful With Hand and Brain Plain Duty of Everyone, Says Writer.

The call is made today more than ever before for the nation to speed up, for men and women to settle down to work in a more serious way than ever before. The call should be heard with joy, for work has never been anything else than a blessing, declares a writer in the Milwaukee Journal. To work to do something useful with hand and brain is the plain duty of everyone. And it is not a duty only; it should be both a pleasure and a satisfaction. The man who is afraid to soil his hands, to bend his back, cannot hope to retain the respect of his fellows. It is the idler who is looked down upon, not the man who does honest labor, though it be of the humblest kind.

Men and women who would be looked up to in their community must be willing to serve, must take part promptly in the work of the world. Now, more than ever, are workers needed. No one has a right to be idle. The saying that the world owes one a living does not pass. Everyone owes it to the world to make a living. Idleness, self-indulgence, taking it easy, is resented by sensible, right-minded people.

The spirit of humanity comes in its fullest measure to the worker. Idleness breeds selfishness, vice. "Satan finds some mischief still for idle hands to do," is not merely a happy turn of speech. It contains a vital truth. The one who honors his work will have honor done him. The shirker is despised. "He that can work," as Carlyle said, "is born a king."

THEY HAD TOO MUCH TO DRINK

It Resulted in Loss of Memory and They Could Not Even Remember Who Arrested Them—Several Drunks Arraigned in Court.

Samuel J. Thelen Smith was arrested Saturday evening on Broadway near Prince street, by Officer Shuler. Samuel J. and the rest of him had partaken of too much booze and was working off surplus energy by entering stores on Broadway and making a nuisance of himself with the proprietors and customers by his drunken talk. Sunday morning Samuel's indiscretion cost him $5 when he was arraigned before Recorder Lang.

That same afternoon Edward Brown, who is employed at the gas works, was found asleep on the L. & D. freight house steps on Hasbrouck avenue by Officer O'Neil who removed the slumbering Edward to the county jail to sleep off his faze. This morning Edward was sober, he confessed he had not the slightest recollection of what had happened except that he must have had a bit too much to drink. It developed that Edward is married and has a wife and two children, and also a steady job. Taking these facts into consideration and also that Edward was not disorderly when arrested, Recorder Lang gave him another chance warning him that a jail sentence would be meted out the next time. Edward vowed there would be no "next time."

Sunday afternoon Fred A. Coss, a member of the Vice Squad company who have been doing guard duty in this vicinity, was arrested by Officer Hess on a charge of public intoxication. It developed that Coss with another soldier alighted from a trolley car and was so unsteady on his feet that he bumped into everybody he met on the street. Officer Hess said that he would have put Coss on a train and sent him back to Utica where he was bound for except for the fact that Coss was too sick to travel.

"I don't remember you at all," interrupted Coss gazing at the officer intently.

It also developed that Coss and his companion had met a drummer downtown and the drummer had presented them with a quart of whiskey. The quart had been consumed when they alighted from the trolley car which accounted for Coss's unsteady attitude on his feet.

Coss pleaded hard for another chance stating he was on his way to Utica for a few days' vacation before joining the coast artillery. He said his folks were looking for him, and as he had told them he was coming.

Recorder Lang after hearing Coss's story and that of Officer Hess which was to the effect that he had locked Coss up for his own protection he gave Coss a chance to get out of town.

PLOT DIDN'T WORK

By ANDREW PHELPS.

Grandma Nelson and her married daughter, Mrs. Wharton, sat on the veranda in close and confidential chat, and Agathy Wharton, nineteen years old and the daughter of Mrs. Wharton, was swinging in the hammock under an apple tree.

"I want to ask you," queried grandma, "what's the matter with Agathy? Here she is nineteen years old and a good-looking girl, and I can't understand why she hasn't had an offer of marriage yet? Doesn't she like men, as a rule?"

"Agathy is a very hard girl in some respects," the mother replied. "She takes likes and dislikes at almost the first glance."

"Daughter, you know it's all arranged for Agathy to go down to Cuba with me. I wanted to talk with you about the question of love. Suppose she should meet on the steamer a young man who filled her ideal—a young man whom I could recommend in every way. Would you oppose it if she fell in love?"

"N-o," was the slow reply. "But I should want you to be sure that he was all right."

"Then, I will tell you something which I have kept back. I have a distant relative whose name is Charles Burton. In fact, he has made my home his home for the last year, while getting ready to graduate as a civil engineer. He is a model young man in every respect, and about twenty-two years of age. I like him so well that I am going to leave him something in my will. You know I am going to leave Agathy something, and if they should fall in love and be married, they would have quite a fortune to start life on."

"That would be nice, but how will they meet?"

"Why, he's going over with me. You know I am going on business, and shall not stay long. I don't want Agathy to know anything about him until we have sailed; and then I will introduce them."

When the day of sailing came Grandma Nelson and Agathy Wharton were almost the first persons to go on board. Grandma cast an eye around and she discovered that Mr. Burton was also an early bird.

It was the second day out, and no introduction had taken place yet, when Grandma Nelson got ready to spring her trap. While Miss Agathy was seated on her stateroom chair on deck the crafty old fox took from her stateroom trunk a watch she had provided for the occasion. It did not take her quite half an hour to wind it up and see that it started off in good fashion. Then she made several experiments as to how far away the ticking could be heard. When satisfied about this she went on deck and hunted up Miss Agathy. It gave her quite a shock to find her talking rather familiarly with a good-looking young man whose age was about twenty-two. Only three chairs away sat Mr. Burton. He was looking very solemn. Grandma Nelson gave the girl a sign to follow her. When they had reached the cabin, she held up her finger and whispered:

"Keep cool, Agathy! We are in very great danger, but keep cool!"

"Well, I am cool," was the cool reply. "Are we going to be blown up by a submarine?"

"As bad as that, Agathy. Some one has placed a clockwork bomb in my trunk and, at a set moment, it will blow up and sink the ship and all of us with it. How anyone got in here to place the bomb is beyond me, but you can hear the ticking of the clock. What shall we do?"

"Why, that trunk must go overboard without delay," calmly replied the girl. "But we dare not touch it! You go on deck again and go to the third chair from where you are sitting and speak to the young man in it. Tell him to come down here at once, as there is work here for a brave man. I was looking at him the other day and he is the stuff of which heroes are made."

Agathy turned without a word and ascended to the deck. Then she walked straight to the young man whom she had been sitting beside when called, and said to him:

"There is a clockwork bomb in grandma's stateroom trunk, and it may explode in a minute. She wants the trunk thrown overboard to avert a great disaster."

"Certainly, certainly," was the reply.

and he followed her to the stateroom.

Grandma opened her mouth to protest that it was the wrong hero, but before she could utter a word, the trunk was picked up and carried on deck, and a heavy overboard sent it floating away on the green billows.

"And that trunk contained all my wardrobe and what I am to do without it. Heaven only knows. Why didn't you bring the young man I told you to?"

"Why, that young man with red hair and a cast in one eye!" almost shouted Agathy, with hands uplifted in horror.

The red-headed young man graduated and went off to South America; the other young man stayed at home and married Miss Agathy Wharton. (Copyright, 1917, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Measures Speed of Clouds.

The Comb nephoscope is a device for measuring the speed of clouds. It consists of an upright brass rod about nine feet long, bearing at its upper end a crosspiece to which a number of equidistant vertical spikes are attached. The observer turns to the crosspiece until the cloud appears to travel along the line of spikes, and notes the time it takes to pass from spike to spike. This forms a basis from which he reckons the speed.

HOT FOOTBALL GAME ENDS IN NO SCORE

Large Crowd Witnesses Hottest Gridiron Battle Ever Fought in Kingston—Game Ends With Score 0-0.

Although Saturday dawned an ideal football day and remained the same until long after the game, the crowd of "rooters" was not so large as the crowd which attended the game played at Poughkeepsie two weeks ago. Promptly at three, the whistle sounded and the game started with the ball in the hands of the Poughkeepsie captain's toe against the ball, which sent the ball far down the field directly into the hands of Beeres, Kingston's plucky little right half, who carried it well towards Poughkeepsie's goal. After the first few minutes, through an error, Poughkeepsie got the ball. Then on the next down Keonig, Kingston's left end, failed to arise with the other fellows, and after a few minutes work on the part of the Good Samaritan, he came to, but the blow he had received on the head had dazed him to such an extent that he was unable to play the rest of the first half. Howard took his place and the game was resumed. Towards the end of the quarter Kingston through an error by one of Poughkeepsie's men, again got the ball and carried it back farther than it was when Poughkeepsie got it the first time. The half ended with the ball in Kingston's hands and over half of the way toward Poughkeepsie's goal.

The second quarter no more than nicely started when Poughkeepsie got the ball and carried it well towards our goal. Through an error by one of her men, Beeres got the ball again, and again Kingston lost it, but through a brilliant play by Muller, Kingston again got the ball when it was only ten yards from our goal. Then Johnson, forgetting any game he might have had for starting, thinking only of the fact that if Poughkeepsie then made a touch down it would mean defeat for Kingston, punted the ball far down the field, thereby preventing Poughkeepsie from scoring. The quarter ended with the ball a safe distance from our goal. During this quarter Becheram, Poughkeepsie's quarterback, received such a blow on the head as to knock him into a state of delirium, in which condition he remained until near the end of the game.

The second half started and Poughkeepsie received the kick-off but lost the ball through an error, after first few downs to Johnson. Poughkeepsie again got the ball on the second down, but lost it on her third down to Howard. Then three times in succession Becheram, in as many terrible line plunges, carried a touch down for Kingston's goal. Through an error Poughkeepsie got the ball, but lost it almost as soon as she got it. This time Johnson again saved the day by his punting. The ball was lost to her, gave her a chance to win in Poughkeepsie by his punt, but he had prevented her from scoring a second time. The third quarter ended with the ball in Kingston's hands.

On the first down of the last quarter, through an error, Poughkeepsie got the ball, which by three splendid and runs she carried to within five yards of our goal. She then lost the ball to Johnson, who after the first down, punted the ball far down the field into the hands of a Poughkeepsie man. For the third time that day Johnson, through his punting, had kept Poughkeepsie from scoring. On the first down Kingston again got the ball and in two downs made a gain of twenty yards, when to the sorrow of Kingston's "rooters," the whistle sounded and the game ended, neither side having scored.

The Kingston boys were heavily out-weighted and one might truthfully say that the day was their victory. The Kingston boys played football Saturday, if they ever did before. There was no starting. Each boy, whether he was in the back field or on the line did his best. The team moved with the regularity of the works of clock. The game was played hard and clean by both teams; what more can any one say.

After the game, teams, and cheering admirers, all retired to the high school gym, where under the watchful eyes of Miss Walton, Mr. Lewis and others, the Poughkeepsie boys were royally entertained by the Kingston girls and boys. No visiting team was ever more royally entertained in the history of Kingston high school and when they left for Poughkeepsie, it was not with hearts saddened by defeat, but by "The End of a Perfect Day."

EDUCATION AND THE REFORMATION

Authorities Cited to Prove That the Reformation Was Destructive Rather Than Constructive and In- jured Many Desirable Institutions.

Editor The Freeman:

In the Freeman of Friday evening under the caption of "Lutherism and Education," there appeared some remarks that ought not to be permitted to pass uncorrected, coming from the high source they evidently do. The cause of truth requires that they should not be permitted thus to pass and, therefore, your indulgence is asked to allow such comment as the matter deserves.

The excerpt referred to is: "The Lutheran Church has ever favored the education of the people, and the Catholic Church, it encourages in the same way." It is a pity that the Lutheran Church should have been so misquoted, as what follows will plainly reveal.

It has always been one of the proudest boasts of the reformation that it gave a powerful impulse to literature and the arts. Before it, the world was sunk in utter darkness, both religious and literary; after it, all was light and refinement. But for the reformation we would still be immersed in a worse than Egyptian darkness; we would have neither science nor literature.

The reformation favorable to the fine arts! As well might be asserted that a conflagration is beneficial to a city which it consumes or that the incursions of the northern barbarians, in the fifth and sixth centuries, were favorable to architecture, painting, sculpture and other fine arts. Wherever reformation appeared, it pillaged, defaced and often burned churches and monasteries; it broke up and destroyed statues; and it, often burned whole libraries. What ever was connected with the Catholic worship, or could serve as a memorial of the Old Catholic faith was wantonly destroyed. And what did it build in their place? Did it produce architects like Fontana, Julio Romano, Michael Angelo and Bernini? Did it rear edifices to compare with those splendid Gothic piles scattered over Europe by the genius of Catholic architecture in the Middle Ages? Where is anything that could vie with St. Peter's at Rome? Did it substitute higher or nobler melody for the sublime Catholic music which it proscribed? But why go on? Let us weigh in the balances the testimony of Schlegel, one of the giants of modern literature and a Protestant in early life, with all it may bring up.

The indefatigable investigator, designates the epoch of the Reformation as barbaro-pelagic and concludes a lecture on the age in the following words:

"When we hear the Middle Ages called barbarous we should remember that the epoch applies with far greater force to the truly barbarous era of the Reformation, and of the religious wars which that event produced, and which continued down to the period when a sort of moral and political purification was re-established, apparently at least in society and the human mind."

And the following which is taken from Luther's own writings as found in the Walch edition:

"People are now possessed with seven evils, whereas formerly they were possessed with only four. The Devil now enters the people in crowds, so that men are now more atheistic, unmerciful, impure, insolent, than formerly under the Pope."

Hallam, a Protestant and hostile to the Church of Rome, is even more explicit in his language on this point. He says:

"Now, again, is there any foundation for imagining that Luther was concerned for the interests of literature? None had he himself, save theological; nor are there, as I append, many allusions to profane studies, or any proof of his regard to them, in all his works.

Well might the case be rested here; but another is drawn upon to show that their opinions were correct. Erasmus, the most distinguished literary character of Germany in the sixteenth century, an eyewitness of the reformation and an intimate friend of the leading reformers, wrote:

"Wherever Lutherism reigns, there literature utterly perishes." In the same year, 1525, he used the following language in one of his letters:

"I dislike these gospellers on many accounts, but chiefly because through their agency, literature everywhere languishes, disappears, lies drooping and perishes; and yet, without learning, what is a man's life?" In answer to the boast that before the reformation spiritual darkness covered the earth, it may be said that, on the contrary, the Church never had such glorious lights, such scholars, such spiritual men as it had before the reformation. To mention only a few: Albertus Magnus, St. Thomas of Aquin, St. Bernard, St. Dominic, St. Francis, St. Bonaventure, St. John of Matha, St. Anthony, Thomas a Kempis and Catherine of Sienna. The greatest universities of today, including Oxford, Cambridge and the Sorbonne were of Middle Ages Catholic origin. In fact there were seventy-two universities established by the Catholics in Europe before the reformation, while the whole Protestant world has founded only forty-six since the reformation.

Again, in one of Hallam's letters to Malancon he states that "at Strasburg the Protestant party had publicly taught in 1554, that it was not right to cultivate any science, any that no language should be studied except the Hebrew."

Common is the charge against the Catholic Church that she keeps her people in ignorance. Let us see what an unexceptionable witness, a Protestant and a Scotchman, says upon this very subject. He relates, too, what he himself saw, and had full opportunities of examining. Allusion is made to Laing, whose "Notions of a Traveller" are well known in the literary world. He says:

"In Catholic Germany, in France and even in Italy, the education of a common people in reading, writing, arithmetic, music, manners and morals is at least as generally diffused and as successfully promoted as by the clerical body in Scotland. It is by their own advance, and not by keeping back the advance of the people, that the popish priesthood of the present day seek to keep ahead of the intellectual progress of the community in Catholic lands; and they might perhaps resort on our Protestant clergy and ask if they too are in their countries at the head of the intellectual movements of the age? Education is in reality not only not repressed, but encouraged by the Popish Church, and it is a mighty instrument in its hands, ably used. Rome, with a population of 1,566,731, has 372 primary schools, with 1482 teachers and 14,000 children attending them. Has Edinburgh so many schools for the instruction of poor classes? I doubt it. Berlin, with a population of about double that of Rome has only 264 schools, with an average attendance of 660 students; and the papal states with a population of two and a half millions, contain seven universities. Prussia, with a population of fourteen millions, has seven."

Piercing the Clouds.

While I write this telegram in a very peaceful French village, the voices of the hymn makers are blurred by the roll of artillery as continuous as an engine, says French Thomas in the London Daily Mail. You might think that the fine rain that is beginning to fall was shaken down by the vibration and nothing else. When on such a day you stand at the center of the thunder and see from behind a great gun, as often I have seen with naked eye, these blurred shells towering upwards, the impression is that a raincloud is actually pierced and punctured by the shell itself as well as shaken loose by vibration.

Improves Sandwiches.

Peanut butter sandwiches are much improved by the addition of beans, either baked or boiled. The proportions are one-third peanut butter and two-thirds beans.

If the skins are tough, rub the beans through a sieve, then mix with the butter, adding a dash of cayenne pepper and salt to taste and a little water or milk, if too thick.

Sandwiches prepared in this way do not stick to the roof of the mouth, as the peanut butter alone sometimes does. This is inexpensive, very palatable and original.

Timbale of Halibut.

For a family of six, purchase one and a half pounds of fish. Wash thoroughly, chop or grind very fine. Add one teaspoonful of salt, a dash of cayenne, one-half cupful of thick cream beaten until stiff and the stiffly beaten whites of three eggs.

Turn this into a well buttered, closely covered baking pan; stand over boiling water and cook steadily for 30 minutes. Turn out on a serving plate and pour around it the egg sauce.

Square Bottom Round Top

That's the shape of the fire pot in Square Pot Boilers. This exclusive construction is a big step in advance of all other designs of boilers. Radiating surface is increased, heat is in direct and close contact with water-containing sections, and grate bars are all of same length. This allows quick clearance and prevents clogging. Square Pot Boilers steam quickly and require less attention than other kinds.

They are made of highest quality materials by expert workmen and designed on scientifically correct, practically proven heating principles. Consult your dealer or write direct to us. No matter what your requirements are, there's a Square Pot Boiler or Furnace to fulfill them.

New York, Oct. 29.—The news of the rout of the Italian army caused declines of from one to three points at the opening of the stock market today. The marine issues were unusually weak at the start. Marine Preferred declined 3 points to 100 1/2, but after the first 15 minutes of trading rallied to 103. Atlantic Gulf dropped 3 1/2 to 103. Marine Common opened 3 1/2 higher at 30 1/2. U. S. Steel sold off 1 1/2 to 105 1/2 and Bethlehem Steel B declined 1 1/2 to 84 1/2. Losses of more than one point were sustained in Crucible, Baldwin and Republic Steel. The copper stocks were weak, Utah falling 1 1/2 to 82 1/2 and Anaconda one point to 63 1/2. American Smelting declined 1 1/2 to 35 1/2. Railroad stocks also suffered losses. Reading dropping one point to 74 and Canadian Pacific 1 1/2 to 143 1/2. The weakness at the opening of the market abruptly turned to strength before the first fifteen minutes. Marine Preferred rallied further to 105 1/2, Bethlehem Steel rose to above 85 and U. S. Steel crossed 106.

The vigorous buying which followed the opening declines was overcome within a short period and during the rest of the forenoon the market tone was heavy with pressure exerted against many stocks, including many dividend paying railroads and a number of the leading specialties. The market was generally strong in the afternoon, the marine issues being the most prominent. The preferred moved up to 105 1/2 from a morning low of 100 1/2, and the common advanced 2 points to 31 1/2. The industrial issues were also strong, U. S. Steel moving up to 104 1/2. The railroad issues were weak, Reading selling down to 72 1/2, Union Pacific to 118 1/2, and Erie to 16 1/2.

The market closed heavy today. Government bonds steady; railway and other bonds weak.

MEMORIAL PRESENTED TO COURT.

Resolutions Regarding Deceased Lawyers Entered on Court Minutes.

At the close of the trial term of the supreme court on Friday, Judge Clearwater, as chairman of the committee on resolutions of the Ulster County Bar Association, presented the resolutions adopted by the association at its meeting on the evening of July 30, in memory of Mac Donald Van Wagener and Joseph H. Vanderlyn, and requested that an order be passed directing their entry in full upon the minutes. Judge Hasbrouck, in a brief and feeling tribute to the memory of Mr. Van Wagener and Mr. Vanderlyn, directed the entry of an order recording them.

TRY ONE-MAN SYSTEM

War Gives Big Universities Opportunity to Slice Staffs.

Pennsylvania Has Retained Bob Folwell to Coach All Gridiron Candidates—Plan Will Be Watched With Interest.

The war has paved the way for many of the country's biggest universities to experiment with the one-man coaching system in football this fall. Heretofore a big per cent of the larger schools have maintained coaching staffs for their football teams on which as high as three and four paid coaches have been serving. This fall there are fewer paid coaches and, though it will be hard on the football coach who is dropped, it will give the universities an opportunity to determine just how much one good coach can accomplish.

Folwell is Retained. At Pennsylvania university Bob Folwell has been retained to coach the gridiron candidates, and he is the only paid coach at the Quaker institution. Folwell, rated as one of the foremost coaches in the country, has charge of all the teams including the eleven-man team, and he is the dictator absolute.

The use of big coaching staffs has been prevalent in the East for a number of years and, despite the old adage that two or three heads are better than one, the real value of a big staff has been an open argument. In the West one high-salaried coach has been considered sufficient by many schools for a number of years, though the advice offered by old grads, who have given their services gratis, has generally been welcome.

Large Coaching Staffs. The great number of players who have turned out for the football teams at the larger universities during the past few years have been responsible for the introduction of large coaching staffs, for it is difficult for one coach to devote much time to the individual player where the field is so large. But Pennsylvania is going to try the plan out, and it will be watched with a great deal of interest by schools throughout the country.

WILL ENLARGE HIS STANDS

President Comiskey Announces Gaps Will Be Filled With New Seats to Accommodate 45,000.

President Comiskey won't be caught short again in case his White Sox get into another world's series. He has announced that the gaps in the stands and bleachers at his Chicago park are to be filled, making a continuous line of stands around the field, except where the "score board" is located, and increasing the seating capacity to 45,000. The work will be done before the 1918 season opens and will give Comiskey the greatest seating capacity in the major leagues. The 2,000 additional box seats built for the world's series also will be permanent, and are a part of the plan to make Comiskey park the biggest and handsomest in the world.

THOUSANDS PRAY FOR VICTORY

At Great Union Prayer Service Held in Delaware Avenue Tabernacle on Sunday Afternoon—Impressive Services—$100 to Red Cross.

The most impressive prayer service in point of numbers at least, ever held in Kingston was that Sunday afternoon in the Delaware Avenue Tabernacle when the huge building was filled with an audience that numbered about 2,500. The address of the afternoon was delivered by the Rev. Putnam Cady of the First Presbyterian Church, and in clear, forceful words he outlined the reasons why we were at war with Germany and that the military spirit and party in Germany must be crushed before there could be peace in the world.

REV. PUTNAM CADY.

Shortly after 2 o'clock that afternoon the huge building began to fill and long before 3 o'clock, the hour set for the meeting, every seat in the huge shed was taken, except those reserved for the Home Guard, the Boy Scouts and the American Mechanics. Many who attended the service were those who had enjoyed the six weeks' Lenten campaign last winter and it seemed to hold another service in the building.

The Rev. P. C. Weyant, pastor of the Trinity M. E. Church, presided, and called attention to the fact that President Wilson had set aside Sunday as a day of prayer. The president's proclamation was read by the Rev. W. F. Stowe of the Church of the Comforter, and before the services started the chorus choir, under the leadership of Harry P. Dodge, with Miss Elsa Hildebrandt at the piano.

Miss Virginia Loskamp sang the Star Spangled Banner in which the huge audience joined in with her at her request.

Frank R. Fowler of the tabernacle committee called the attention of the audience to the needs of the local Red Cross, who were expending about $1,000 a month to supply the boys at the front with needed medical articles and food.

The offering that would be taken would be turned over to the Red Cross with the exception of the amount needed to cover the expense of the meeting in evening the building for the service. The offering amounted to $117.54 and of that amount $100 will be turned over to the Red Cross.

The Rev. Mr. Weyant called the attention of the audience to the fact that the meeting was for the purpose of praying for the victory of our army and navy and for two minutes the huge audience bowed its head in silent prayer following which the Rev. A. S. Cole of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church led in prayer.

The Rev. Mr. Cady, who delivered the message of the hour, stated in forceful terms that not until the military and the fighting spirit that led the Germans to murder helpless women and children with a cold peace return to the earth, as it was necessary to kill a wild beast to preserve human life, so was it necessary to kill this spirit that animated the Kaiser and his followers. If this spirit persisted in the German breast then every German with the spirit must be killed for the safety of the world.

Not in the history of the world was there such cruel and inhuman practices such as the Germans inflicted on their neighbors. No other nation ever murdered its prisoners after they had surrendered, which was what the Germans were and have been doing. The time has come in this country when the world German-Americans will be paid out. A nation is either an American or a German, there is no halfway measure about it.

Too long have we been apologizing to our German neighbors about us taking part in the great world war and into which we were forced by Germany. It was not up to us to apologize but up to our German neighbors and it was up to them to disavow the inhuman acts of the Kaiser and his followers in sinking unarmed boats and firing on life boats loaded with helpless women and children. With a nation who deliberately pledged friendship to your face and had the knife out to stab you in the back. Of a nation that has no regard for its solemn word. A nation who must be taught its place. Too long has it been implanted in the German mind that the Germans are the leaders of the world and that other nations are their inferiors. Germans must be taught that all men are free and equal in the sight of God.

What is the use of crying peace when there is no peace.

It is up to every true American to help our government crush Germany and if we are not in the service we can still serve the country at home. This week the government is asking the nation to conserve its wheat and meat that the Allies may be fed. Every family is urged to have wheatless and meatless days and by assisting in this movement we can assure it is too late to buy Liberty Bonds.

of the second loan, but there will be another chance offered to do so later. The speaker emphasized the fact that not until the military party in Germany was crushed would there be a real world peace. He compared the attitude of German against us with that against Nehemiah in the Old Testament.

Dr. Cady spoke for an hour and held the close attention of the big audience and was heartily applauded. The meeting closed with the singing of The Battle Hymn of the Republic and the benediction.

It was a prayer service that will linger long in the memory of those who attended.

FOUR YEAR RECORD IS SATISFACTORY

Republican Nominee For Supervisor in Second Ward Has Shown What Public Service Means And How It Is Appreciated.

Four years' service in the board of aldermen has well equipped Robert McKittrick to perform the duties of supervisor, for which office he has been nominated by Republicans of the Second ward.

ROBERT MCKITTRICK.

Mr. McKittrick is one of the best known contract painters in Kingston. He has been a resident of the Second ward for nearly twenty-five years during all of which time he has worked for the best interests of the ward, whose phenomenal growth during that period along industrial and residential lines has made it one of the most important sections of the county.

Four years ago Mr. McKittrick was nominated for alderman and the service which he rendered during the term proved so satisfactory that two years ago he was re-elected as the nominee of not only the Republican party but the choice also of the Democratic party.

He is a member of Kingston Lodge, No. 10, P. and A. M., the American Mechanics and the Knights of Pythias.

Four Cows Running Loose.
Sunday morning about 3 o'clock while Policeman Lawrence was patrolling his beat downtown he found a stray cow and drove it over to Webster's livery on Main street. Later it was learned that there was another stray cow in the school yard at School No. 2. Dean later in the day reported to police headquarters that four cows had strayed away from 23 East Union street.

SCHICK HAS NEVER SHIRKED HIS DUTY

Republican Nominee For Supervisor in Thirteenth Ward Has Found Time Also To Help Friends And Has Spotless Record.

George Schick, the able representative of the Thirteenth Ward in the board of supervisors for several terms and who is the Republican nominee, has been identified with the ward during his entire lifetime.

Mr. Schick was born in Wilbur, in the old Santa Claus Hotel, which was conducted by his father, Casper

GEORGE SCHICK

Schick. When 14 years old he began working for Spardie Brothers, papering barrels at the old James Ceatent works in the town of Esopus. The following year he fixed barrels in the old Sherman & Weeks plant for George Turner, who then had the contract for all cooper work. At the age of 18 years he entered the grocery store of Daniel H. Zoller and has been connected with that business since. During his entire life he has displayed an attention to detail and consideration for the wishes of others that has endeared him to everyone with whom he has come in contact.

He has been closely identified with the social as well as the political life of the ward, and always has been ready to do his part in making for the entertainment of his neighbors. In which connection he has for a number of years acted as interlocutor for the Holy Name minstrels of Wilbur. He has been active in fireman matters and for nearly twenty-five years has been a member of Twaalfskill Hose Company. He is also a member of the Hudson Valley Firemen's Association and the Loyal Order of Moose.

In the board of supervisors he has attended strictly to the work to be done and at all times has voted in the interests of the ward. His record is spotless and there has been no complaint against him. His service in the county legislature has been rendered with entire fidelity to the interests of his constituents and to the taxpayers of the ward, city and county, and his record may well receive the approbation of the voters of the Thirteenth Ward by an increased majority on election day.

MILLION IN GOLD FOR LOAN.
The photograph shows one million dollars in gold from the city of San Francisco, Cal., ready to be turned over to the United States government for Liberty Bonds.

Founding of Havana.
Havana, or San Cristobal de la Habana, as it was originally named, was the last of seven cities founded in Cuba by the island's conqueror, the Adelantado Diego Vazquez, the date being July 26, 1515. Since that was 33 years after Columbus' discovery there cannot be many men world wide older than Havana, assuming that most of the other six in Cuba have since disappeared.

Answer: They Were Not.
One thing we know for sure. Our grandmothers, who accomplished such miracles of baking, brewing, spinning and weaving, while bringing up families of ten or a dozen or more, didn't have the telephone to keep them from the affairs of Tom, Dick and Harry, their wives, mothers, sisters and sweethearts, half the day while fishes went unwashed and beds unmade. Weren't those the good old days?—Whitmore Times.
